Gallery brings Mexican artisans' furniture to Scottsdale

SCOTTSDALE, AZ. September 15, 2004 - Digital Dogs, a Scottsdale-based Internet technology company, today announced the unveiling of a new client Web site for De La Mano Gallery.

De La Mano brings to the Scottsdale area an extraordinary line of MFA/Eronga furniture. Each piece is a hand-carved and hand-painted work of art with craftsmanship that is the cornerstone of a 500-year-old artisan legacy. The De La Mano Gallery is open to the public and designers on the northwest corner of Thunderbird and Scottsdale Road, and also includes accessories and creations in jewelry, silver, copper, and textiles.

Digital Dogs also helped create the grand opening brochures and artist placards for De La Mano Gallery. For more information, please visit the new gallery site at www.delamanogallery.com.
